Marquis for 1992 by Beaver Coaches. Hands down, the supreme value in its luxury class A category.

This new motor coach comes off the line as Beaver celebrates 25 years of leadership in recreational vehicle manufacturing. A stability unparalleled in the motor home industry. But stable doesn't mean static at Beaver Coaches. And, inside and out, the 1992 Marquis sports a new and thrilling sophistication.

This Marquis introduces exciting new fabrics that wake up the whole coach. And an expanded choice of rich wood interiors that includes oak, walnut, and the industry's first offering of dark, sophisticated cherry.

A giant exterior pass-through cargo bay provides plenty of room for big take-alongs. The bay, plus all other exterior storage compartments, features convenient new paddle latches and doors that open wider than ever.

Of course, Beaver Coaches insists that some things about a Marquis never change. Like its superior engineering. Trusted components and materials. A fit and finish unmatched by any other manufacturer. And an overall integrity that has always set this coach apart.

The Marquis for 1992 is powered by a mighty turbocharged Caterpillar 3176 engine that delivers 325 b.h.p. and sports the best grade-climbing capability in that horsepower range. In fact, the Caterpillar develops 1,225 lb-ft of torque, resulting in an envied 51% torque rise.

A RideWell suspension system with outboard air bags delivers a ride that's cushioned, yet controlled. This Marquis' remarkably responsive steering system makes changing lanes or pulling on and off the road simple maneuvers. And the largest brakes in its motor home category are standard equipment on this new coach. Plus, an optional Jacobs engine brake can be added for even more stopping power.
